What is the Culture Pass?

This program is a partnership between the Phoenix metro public libraries and area museums. The Culture Pass gives cardholders free admission for 2 people at participating organizations when they “check-out” the admission at their library.

How does it work?

Customers can select the venue of their choice from the display at the Buckeye Public Library. Customers then need to bring the venue’s card to the customer service desk along with their library card to “check-out” the admission pass. The library staff will issue a “date-due” slip. This date-due receipt serves as a voucher for admission to the museum.

 The red cards in the library are not redeemable for admission – they must remain at the library. *****

Frequently Asked Questions:

How many passes may be checked out? Buckeye Public Library cardholders/families may check out one pass per week, and only two passes per month.

How long will the pass be valid? The pass is valid for seven days from the time of check-out. It expires at the end of the day or the date on the slip.

May passes be used more than once? Venues will collect the date due slips/checkout receipt at the time of visit. The slips also expire after seven days whether they have been used or not.

Are the Culture Passes renewable? Passes are not renewable.

May the public reserve a Culture Pass online? No - Passes will be available on a first-come first-served basis.

Do the passes need to be returned to the library? In order to use the pass, you must take it to the front desk and they will take the pass and provide you with a printed receipt to use in exchange for admission at the museum. So the Culture Pass itself never leaves the library.

 The red cards in the library are not redeemable for admission. *****

If they have more people than what is allotted on the pass, do they get free admission on the higher ticket prices? Yes. The free admission can be redeemed against the highest price ticket.

Are there restrictions on the Culture Pass? The pass will cover admission to the venue, but not to special events/exhibits. Some participating organizations may have a few select dates when the pass cannot be used. Restrictions will be listed on both the program and the venue websites.
